Honey Do List

When you hear the word "handyman", do you think of Bob Vila, or perhaps Tim "the Tool Man" Taylor from the 90s TV show Home Improvement? We think of David & JoAnna Pederson of Made Right Handyman.

David, a former "IT guy" and JoAnna, a former rental equipment coordinator, can now often be found with a hammer and paintbrush in hand. After years of home projects being a side gig, Made Right Handyman was born. David reflected on why, "we wanted to make more of a difference and now we get to see the positive impact we make for our customers. We complement each other's skills and work great as a team and we get to share our faith with our customers as a bonus."

I took the opportunity to ask Dave a few questions:

What are two home projects you suggest homeowners hire out? Drywall and trimwork - worth the money to hire experts.

What is your "can't live without tool" in your toolbox? My DeWalt oscillating tool. I use it for so many applications.

What has been your favorite project? It was the customer, not the project, that I remember. An older lady was ecstatic when we finished in her home. We then got a referral from her, that was the best compliment we could ask for.
